- NNFHC is a model for multidisciplinary healthcare delivery that has partnered educational, corporate and community support.

Health Promotion and Disease Prevention

Dentistry has long been ahead of other disciplines in the concept of prevention of disease to achieve health: fluoridation, oral hygiene instruction, cancer screening.

Health Promotion and Disease Prevention

In addition to organizational skills, Dr. Martin has moved the NNFHC Dental Program from an urgent care and reactive agenda toward a comprehensive and preventative care focus.

Health Promotion and Disease Prevention

Financial barriers for children's services have been eliminated. Entire families are recruited to come for routine examinations and preventative care.

Health Promotion and Disease Prevention

Oral health has been implicated in serious systemic diseases such as diabetes and cardiovascular disease. Clearly nutrition and disease prevention are key to long term health goals.

Health Promotion and Disease Prevention

Becoming a member of this exceptional educational team is a challenge I would welcome. It would be a fascinating process to bring the vision to reality, especially now with concepts of health, wellness, and nutrition are so volatile. The market is crying for answers that sound science, education and marketing could deliver.
